Family Roots of Jeffery L. Mock

By Ronald M. Moore, M.D.

In this issue of the Mock Family Historian we will be breaking with tradition and are featuring a living Mock instead of one from the past. This has been done with permission of Jeff Mock.

Jeff Mock for Governor of California

An historical recall election for the Governor of California was held on October 9, 2003. The winner of this race was the Hollywood Republican actor, Arnold Schwarznegger, and E. Gray Davis, the Democratic governor was ousted in a landslide decision. This event was the second in the history of the US where the voters have recalled a governor. The list of candidates included 135 that were certified, with many different political parties as well as some well-known names. In addition there were 28 certified write-in candidates. Some in the media labeled this as a political circus.

Although Jeff Mock ran as a certified Republican candidate and did not win, he feels he has accomplished goals that he originally intended. One of these was a meeting with governor elect Schwarznegger. He also was able to publicize the plight of businesses and industry in California, which are moving out of State to other areas such as Arizona and New Mexico. He also helped to bring to the attention of the general public the Workmen's Compensation crisis in California whose premiums to business owners have skyrocketed to unreasonable heights.

Jeff who is now 50 years of age, is the owner of an aluminum recycling firm located in Compton, CA, which produces aluminum ingots which are then used in the die and casting foundry industry. His company, which was partly founded by his father, is called Thorock Metals. His education included the University of Maryland and he received a B. S. degree in 1975 from Oregon State University. His wife of 25 years is Janet and they have two children, Brian, age 18 and Katy age 16. They reside in Palos Verdes, Los Angeles Co, CA.

At the recent Mock Family Historian annual meeting held in Salt Lake City on September 20, 2003, Barbara Dittig was the first to point out to me that a Jeff Mock was running for governor of California. Wishing to get more information about his family roots, right after the election, a search was made for him on the Internet and a web page was discovered which among other things, contained a short biography and that is where we got most of the information noted above. There was also an e-mail address.

When I wrote to Jeff, he promptly replied and stated that he had only a very limited knowledge about his family roots since both of his parents were deceased. He stated that both he and his family and siblings were very interested in learning more. He gave me information about his grandfather and great grandfather, which allowed us to trace back. It is believed he is descended from the Rudolph Mauck (I) line of Virginia as follows:

Rudolph Mauk (I) • Rudolph Mock (II) •

Andrew Mock • John Mock •

Samuel/Simon Mock • Fred Leslie Mock •

Ted Eugene Mock • Jeffrey Leighton Mock

Jeff's family line traces back to John Mock who was born in Bourbon Co, KY, moved to Rush County, Indiana and then settled in Albia, Monroe Co, Iowa. John's son, Samuel/Simon Mock is Jeff's great grandfather. Several are known to share this family line including Steve Lapp whose great great grandmother, Zerelda (Mock) Watson was a sister to Jeff's great grandfather, Samuel/Simon Mock.

The name of Samuel Mock was found in the 1850 US Census of Albia, Monroe Co, IA and also among family records submitted by Jeff Mock, as "Samuel D. Mock". The name of Simon D. Mock was found in the 1870 and 1880 US Census records and there is other evidence that leads us to believe they are all the same individual. Names of children given to me by Jeff, matched the census records noted above.

There are some details concerning the children of this Samuel Mock that have not yet been worked out completely. This is partly due to only a small number of family records that have been preserved, and inability to locate Samuel/Simon after 1880. If anyone has any further information on this family, you may contact Jeff at his e-mail address or at his post office box given at the end of this article.

Barbara Dittig has this Samuel/Simon Mock among her working charts (Chart # 23 B). However, the specific information on this Samuel/Simon D. Mock family who lived in Albia, Monroe Co, Iowa, Howard Twp, Gentry Co, Missouri and Sharps Creek, McPherson Co, Kansas is new to us and Barbara will be adding it to her data.

Jeff mentioned to me that another hidden benefit of his gubernatorial campaign was making contact with us at the Mock Family Historian and without this he probably would not have been able to trace his ancestral roots. He and his family are all very grateful and excited about this.

Ron Moore has delved into his Mock archives and is finding a great deal of research items on this family. The following is a portion of what he has sent to Jeff.

To Jeff from Ron Moore

I made an interesting discovery on your line, Jeff, and that is your great grandfather, Simon D. Mock served in the Civil War in a unit from Albia, Monroe Co, IA, the 17th Iowa Infantry, Company H and went in as a private.

He entered military service 7 Apr 1862 and was 21 at the time which was the precise date I had calculated from census records for his birth.

This is the first record I have found that definitely ties this Simon D. Mock to Albia Monroe Co, IA. We had suspected a connection since he was living near his brother Jacob David Mock in McPherson County, KS in 1870 and 1880 but this is the most direct evidence found so far.

"Simon D. Mock, claimed residence in Albia, enlisted 7 Apr 1862 as a private, age 20. Served Iowa, H Company, 17th Infantry, Iowa".

The strong circumstantial evidence that we have the right Simon D./Samuel D. Mock family are getting stronger. If and when you get the death certificate of your grandfather, Fred Leslie Mock, I suspect it will be even stronger and maybe unquestionable.

2003 Mock Family Conference held in Salt Lake City Utah

The 13th annual Mock Family Conference was held September 19-21 in Salt Lake City, Utah. Of the 26 who attended 12 had never been to one of our gatherings. Meeting new "cousins", comparing ancestor research and stories is what makes this annual event so worthwhile.

Those members attending for the first time:

Fredrick & Kathryn Brown from San Diego, CA. Kathryn is a descendant of Peter Mock of Bedford Co., PA.

Kathy Busby and her mother, Betty Mauck Carpenter are descended from Peter Mock of Frederick Co., VA. Kathy lives in Fairfield, CA and her mother, Betty, in Lafayette, CA., both close by neighbors to Barbara Dittig.

Pauline and Norman Davis live in Cove, OR. Their son, Mat, who lives in SLC, joined us at the "get acquainted" reception. Pauline's ancestor is John Booton Mauck, a descendant of Daniel Mauck and Barbara Harnsberger.

Marvin Mauck, his sister Marilyn Ayers and her husband Keith came from Littleton, CO. Marvin and Marilyn are descended from Peter Mauck of Frederick Co., VA.

Walter "Monty" Montgomery is the British Reference Missionary Zone Leader at the Family History Center. Monty was very helpful in securing FHC volunteers, Traci McPhie who provided us with invaluable materials to aid in our research at the library and our speaker, Tab Thompson, who spoke on the realities and possibilities of German research. Monty is descended from Ruben Mock, s/o Daniel. Thanks again, Monty for all of your help.

Melba Treaster is from Fort Collins, CO and is also descended from Peter Mauck of Frederick Co., VA.

It was good to see once again Joan Belanger from Royal Oak, MI and Joan's friend Mary Freer. Joan is researching the Daniel Mauck line of Shenandoah, VA.

Lola Harris, from Berkeley, CA is a Rudolph Mauk descendant. She last attended the 1996 conference in Woodstock, Shenandoah Co., VA.

Daniel Mock from Fort Wayne, IN manages to attend most of our gatherings in spite of his heavy travel schedule. Dan is descended from Jacob Mock of Loudoun Co., VA.

It was good to see Jim "JP" Mock once again. JP has done extensive research on all VA Mocks trying to find where his Joseph A. Mauck fits in. He hails from Torrance, CA. Welcome back, JP.

Other southern Californians attending, Walt and Dorothy Mock Tarvin of Hacienda Heights. Dot is descended from Andrew Mock of Georgia.

Helene Younger lives in Newhall, CA. Jacob Mack of Northampton Co., PA is her earliest known ancestor. (also Barbara Dittig's).

And last but not least - Anne and Ron Moore from Friant, CA. Ron is our "Founding Father" and his latest accomplishment is the compilation of the 12 Year Cumulative Index. Ron is descended from Daniel Mauck who was thought to have been a son of Rudolph Jr., but DNA has disproved this theory.

Jan and Doug Mauck from Topeka, KS. Doug is our DNA project manager. He gave an update on the project and answered a multitude of questions from his audience. Doug has done an outstanding job in keeping us all informed. He is descended from Daniel Mauck and Rebecca Baker.

Jim and Barbara Dittig live in Danville, CA. Barbara has Mocks on both sides of her family. Jacob Mack of Northampton Co, PA on her mother's side and Rudolph Mauk of Bourbon Co., KY on her father's side. A special "Thank you" to husband, Jim for being so helpful and putting up with all of us genealogy nuts!

I would like to thank all of you for helping to make this year's meeting a most enjoyable one. The first topic of our Sunday morning discussion was "Where shall we go next year?"

Barbara Dittig, editor

Notes from conference attendees

From Daniel Mock

As usual, I had a great time with everyone in Salt Lake City last weekend. I really do look forward to these get-togethers, and they are just what I need to keep motivated in my research. Here is my bio that you asked for:

"Dan Mock from Fort Wayne, IN, is a descendant of Jacob Mock, b. about 1777.

Jacob and his wife Elizabeth Rawlings were married in Frederick County, MD, but afterwards lived in Loudoun County, VA, where most of their children were born. Jacob's parents have not been identified, but Dan is participating in the Mock Family DNA Project and this has established a genetic connection between Jacob Mock and several other Mocks from PA, VA, and IN. On the other hand, Jacob's descendants have been well researched and documented thanks to many MFH researchers, especially Gene V. Mock and Marilyn Pohhman (see MFH chart #10 for details). Jacob died near his home in Waterford, Loudoun County, VA, in 1832, a possible victim of murder.

Isaac L. Mock, a son of Jacob and Elizabeth b. about 1819 in Loudoun County, is Dan's g-g-grandfather. Dan has been trying to find Isaac's date and place of death (probably in Virginia about 1900) and would appreciate any information that readers can provide."

Thanks again for another interesting and worthwhile meeting!

From Larry Mock

Once again, I want thank you and whoever for getting the conference together. I had a great time being amongst my "cousins in name" and having the opportunity to explore the treasures of the great LDS Family History Center.

I felt right at home with the members, and it was great to recognize a few familiar faces from the conference in North Carolina. I learned a lot from the DNA overview, German research conducted by the LDS staff, and the Mock Family Historian index project. Even though I did not make much progress on new details about my Valentin Mock line, I got valuable information about my other family lines while there. I am appreciative of a few members who have volunteered to pitch in and help me with my Valentin research. I had a great time for the second time, and I plan on attending next year.

Valentin's related facts are not documented. They are: he was born 1820/1821 to Christopher and Elizabeth Goebel Mock (from death record at the Catholic church in Illinois). Possibly originated from an area near Heiligenstadt/Geisleden, Germany in Thurnigen (have lots of unidentified pictures marked "Mock family" from photographers from this area). Valentin is known to have siblings, but cannot be identified due to not knowing their names. One brother was known to be Joseph, and he possibly came to the USA. I believe Valentin came to the USA via NYC from Bremen. He possibly spent time in the Cincinnati, Ohio area for I have a picture of "Mock Family" that had an old German newspaper from that area behind it. I know all of the details of Valentin's life after he reached the Quincy, Adams Co, Illinois area. I need help with his pre Illinois/USA life.

I am asking anyone who may have information on my great grandfather, Valentin Mock, to please contact me at laryjatl@aol.com or 1213 Gracewood Avenue, SE, Atlanta, Georgia 30316-2665. Thanks once again for everything.

DNA notes from Doug Mauck

DNA participants needed

Two more lines that we desperately need is a descendant of Alexander Mack through any of his three sons, and a descendant of "Soldier" George and many of these settled in Indiana. If you might qualify or know of someone who would be eligible to be tested, contact Doug Mauck at: dmauck@cox.net

We have a new participant in the Y-DNA Project! Myron Wesley Mock of Eugene, OR is descended from a Michael B. Mock, b. 1806.

Myron Mock's sister is instrumental in obtaining the test kit and may be reached at: jacobs@dakotacom.net if anyone wants to compare data on Michael B. Mock's line.

DNA Print Test

It may be of interest to some to read the case histories of people who have taken the DNAPrint test. The DNAPrint test reveals the racial history of an individual and reports on one's ancestry of Indo-European, East Asian, Native American, and Sub-Sahara African. As you will see, there have been some surprises:

<http://www.kerchner.com/cgi-kerchner/dnaprint.cgi>

mtDNA Test

Our editor, Barbara Dittig, recently sent in her mtDNA test kit. She received a message back saying that they were unable to determine her haplotype and that further testing would be necessary. Doug recently wrote to Family Tree DNA to make sure her test hadn't "fallen through the crack". He got the following message,

"Barbara's test has been sent out to a specialist, and there is currently a test called an RFLP being done to determine her haplogroup. Whenever someone's mtDNA test comes back with a set of mutations new to our database, which is what would cause this test to be performed, as we have nothing to go by on a comparative basis, we send the sample out for this test and are happy to have it run, completely on our dime. I expect it will be at least another several weeks, but the good news is that you can count on a haplogroup having been assigned when that result does come in."

Doug answered to Barbara, "Wow! You have a haplotype that FTDNA has never seen! I can't wait to see what it is! Maybe there were EIGHT daughters of Eve! One of a kind?? - Stay tuned!

FOUND

Mocks in Richmond Co., GA

By accident, I ran across this information and thought it might be of interest to some who may be researching early Mock family in Georgia and South Carolina.

This was an article reprinted by the National Genealogical Society in 1908 and was titled Richmond Co, Georgia, Land Court Records, 18 Sep 1784 to Aug 1787, by Pharl Baker.

Land Court Records held at Richmond County Court House, Aug 6, 1787 and located on page 300 of the above reference:

Andrew Mock, 300 acres, HR, of wife and 5 children, on Reedy Creek, to include his own improvements

Joseph Mock, 200 acres, HR, of 4 children to include own improvements on Reedy Creek.

Further searching indicates that HR stands for Head Right. Reedy Creek appears to be a tributary of Briar Creek in Burke, Jefferson and Warren Co, GA.

Hope this may help someone.

QUERIES

Mock/Mauk/Mauk Family Research

I recently came across this site and found it to be extremely interesting. I am Tom Mauk and am named after my grandfather who is buried in the Indian Mound Cemetery in Romney, W. Va. Most of my family believe we are descendents of a Frederick Mauk from Va. Whom, I believe is listed in the list of Mauks from Va. I never knew any of my grandfathers family so names of his brothers or sisters are not available. My grandfather was married only one time to Virginia Pultz (Pulz?) she died I think in 1957 and my grandfather died in 1962 I think. My father is Vesse (Vess) and his twin brother is Jesse (Jess) my uncles were Frederick, and Roy and of course Jess. My aunts were Mary Catherine and Virginia and an aunt who died, I believe when she was 13 named Valley. She also is buried at the Indian Mound Cemetery in Romney W. VA.

Does any of this fit into your research? If so, or not, I'd be happy to supply you with as much information as possible to help fill in the branches of the family tree.

One other thing that may be of some help. My grandfather was actually raised in a small town called Rio, in W. VA. Which is about 15 miles east, (I think) of Romney. I was also told many years ago that at one time my Grandfather Thomas was the Sheriff of Hampshire Co, W. VA. Where Romney is the county seat.

I look forward to hearing from you.

Lehigh County, PA Macks

Hooray!!!! I spotted your notice of the Salt Lake City gathering. I rented the microfiche of the Mock, Mauk, Mack... "story" and the address listed for you is no longer current. So delighted to see your name with a new address!

My Mack family ties are in the Lehigh County and surrounding counties of Pennsylvania. All of the elders are gone, and no idea of how to find the younger generations. One in particular is Everett Mack, son of Mattie/Matilda Lee Mack wife of John Hoffman Mack who died in Tennessee, but was from the Allentown area. He left several older children behind when his first wife Ella/Ellen Landis Mack died. I have his death certificate, Ella/Ellen's death certificate copies, and an old envelope from a letter written by Everett to my deceased father. Addressee no longer lives there. No records show up, as yet, but would appreciate if you could post a notice at the gathering for me?

Rudolph Mock III Descendants

Abraham and Cynthia Custer Mock

I saw your name in the genealogical publication Tide-water Virginia Families. Hopefully someone in your organization might have information on the following family. I am not a MOCK descendant but I'm working on a WILSON family from north central Kentucky.

Abraham Mock, s/o Rudolph Mock III & Margaret, died about 1846, probably Bourbon Co., KY; He married Cynthia Custer/Wilson who died about 1846 also in Bourbon Co. She was d/o William & Elizabeth (Wilson) Custer. Most of their descendants, including the widow Elizabeth herself used the surname Wilson in later life.

Children of Abraham and Cynthia:

1. Emily Mock b. ca1834 Bourbon Co, KY; m. 1848 Adams Co., IL Edward S. Rice
2. Samuel Mock b. ca1833; d. 1 Nov 1859, bur. Pulaski Cem., Augusta, Hancock co., IL
3. Joseph Mock b. 5 Apr 1835 Bourbon Co., KY; d. 24 Sep 1907, bur. Pulaski Cem., Augusta, Hancock Co., IL; m. 17 Mar 1862 Adams Co. IL Eleanor Kennedy
4. Margaret Mock b. 1842; m. John Robinson
5. Henry Mock b. 1839 KY; m. 1 Oct 1861 Adams Co., IL Eliza Jane Combs
6. Cynthia Mock b. 1844 KY; m. 1862 Hancock Co., IL Barnett Cain Humble

I would appreciate any further information that your members might have on the Wilson family.

John Coons and Kitty Ann Mock

I found your name on a web site re MOCK. My ggrandfather, John Coons, married a Kitty Ann Mock 24 Jul 1842 in Bourbon Co., KY. I'm trying to trace this John Coons. Kitty Ann died 15 Aug 1847. This is all per the Bible of John Coons. I would like to talk to you regarding Mock if this is the same family. So far the names of John's parents have eluded me. There were quite a few Coons in that part of KY 1800s and they all had a son, John.

Children of John and Kitty Ann:

1. James Rudolph Coons b. 16 Aug 1843
2. Charles Patrick Coons b. 26 Feb 1845
3. John William Coons b. 27 Jul 1847

• Ellenor Jo Coons Flint 9007 W. Sunrise Blvd., Plantation, FL 33322 GritzMom@comcast.net

Dear Ellenor, Thanks for writing. Your John Coons who married Catherine Mock is in "Mock Working Chart" #23B. Catherine & John Coons were listed in the Estate Settlement for her father, Rudolph Mock III. Catherine was born 3 Mar 1821. [estate settlement sent to Ellenor]. Note: Ellenor sent me a copy of the bible records for John and Kitty Ann Coons which I'll be happy to copy and send to anyone interested. B. Dittig

Jacob and Juliana McNinch Mock Descendant

I recently joined MOCK-GEN-L, and I had a question about Working Chart #18. My great-great grandparents are Jeremiah and Louisa Springer Mock. I found them in the 1880 Census in Perry, Clarion County, PA. I also found an Andrew Mock, age 33, in Phillipsburg, Clarion County, PA. His household included his mother, Julean, age 72, and his brother, James, age 25. I assumed that this Andrew was the son of Jacob and Juliann since the 1870 Census shows Jacob, Juliann, Philander, Jacob, and James living in Phillipsburg, Clarion County. From the working chart, though, the Andrew listed as the son of Jacob and Juliann is much older. Is there some proof that he is their son? I'm trying to find a link between my Jeremiah and Jacob and Juliann, and it sounds as though there might have been two Mocks in the same place at the same time. Barbara, the widow of the Andrew listed as Jacob and Juliann's son is still living in Sugar Creek, Armstrong County, PA, in the 1880 Census.

Ed. Note: an updated version of Chart #18 was sent to Sandy

Thanks so much for all the great info! I'm relatively new at genealogy, but since there are so many great records online now, I've been enjoying searching!

Your Working Chart #18 was so much help! I found the Jacob and Julia Ann Mock family, including my Jeremiah, living in Brady's Bend, Armstrong County, PA, in the 1850 Census, and they were still in Armstrong County, but this time in Sugar Creek Township, in the 1860 Census. In 1870, they were living in Brady Township, Clarion County, PA. Julia Ann's name is spelled differently on each Census. By 1870, Barbara Templeton Mock, Andrew's widow, and their children were back living near her family in Sugar Creek, Armstrong County. Jacob M. Mock, the son of Jacob and Julia Ann, disappeared after the 1870 Census. The FamilySearch site is the 1880 Census that lists Andrew Mock and his family, which includes his mother Julean and his brother James. Both Julean and James are the right ages, and I'm wondering now if Jacob M., the son, changed his name to Andrew after his older brother died. It sounds odd, but the history of Brady Township lists Andrew Mock as having fought in the Civil War, so maybe Jacob M. was tired of being Jr. and wanted to honor his brother after he died.

My great-great-grandparents were Jeremiah and Louisa Springer Mock so I probably won't spend too much more time on Jacob/Andrew. I just wanted to finally tie my Jeremiah to Jacob and Julyan/Julia Ann/Julliann/Julean

Thanks again for sharing all the info.

Mocks in North and South Carolina

Submitted by Sharon Davis

I found the following post at Genforum and found it to be VERY interesting. Dated 23 July 2003 so hopefully his e-mail is still current.

Hello Mock Cousins:

Frederick Mock, son of Peter Mock Jr lived in a fine brick home in what is now Alexander Co. but was once Irdell. He and his father owned land on both sides of the Catawba River and operated a grist mill in The Elk Shoals community.

Uncle Frederick was married to Elizabeth Moser a sister to Polly Moser Dagenhart my ancestress. These women and their parents are buried at the Union Graveyard near current Marvin Methodist Church in Alexander Co. NC. The Mock house still stands and is owned by Mocks.

The Moser Girls were the daughters of Jacob Moser and Margaret??? his first wife. In an effort to find the maiden name I stumbled on a whole cluster of Mocks on Edgefield SC.

Polly Moser Dagenhart named two of her sons with the middle name, Marcus: Iraneuos Marcus Dagenhart and Ellis Marcus Dagenhart and both boys were alive at the same time in the 1830's. I immediately thought Marcus or Marquis might be the missing maiden name.

I found Ellis De Marquis and second wife Mary in Edgecomb SC formerly of Granville NC in 1788. His first wife was Elizabeth Basket. In 1788 old Ellis dies and in 1790 his son Daniel and his wife Mary are in Edgefield SC.

Mary has a neighbor Robert Fulk (Volk) it just so happens my Jacob Moser had two aunts who married Volks.

On the next page was Daniel De Marquis and he has three Mock brothers for neighbors, John, George and Benjamin.

Now it was very common for the men in Lincoln and Rowan NC to make two yearly trips to Charleston SC each year for trade purposes. They may easily have stopped in Edgefield as the county was much larger in the 1790's.

I would like to know if the SC Mocks descend from the same Peter Moser who came to PA from Germany in the 17470's and then ended up in Rowan NC in what is now Mocksville

My Fredrick's father is his grandson and I thought perhaps the Edgefield Mocks are as well.

If anyone can link the NC and SC Mocks please let me know. If I can prove the Marquis family were neighbors to the Mocks in SC who were relatives to the Mock Moser connection in NC then I may begin to unravel my Moser Mystery.

I recently found a court of Pleas case for Irdell NC where my ancestor Jacob Mock and His son in law Frederick Mock were in a lease with William Basket Jones to operate a Ferry near Island Ford of the Catawba River. William Basket Jones is a son of John Morley Jones and Ruth Basket. Was she related to Elizabeth Basket Marquis??

I have Photos of the Mock Home and Frederick and Betty Moser Mock and their children and will share any and all info.

John MaukDescendant

I am the great granddaughter of John Mauk, son of Matthias Mauk in Chart #25. This John Mauk was not married twice, but was only married once to Mary Ellen Cowden. John Mauk was born 14 April 1832 in Ohio. The family migrated to Illinois from Ohio between 1843 and 1847. (I believe they migrated in 1846, but have not proven it conclusively.) This John Mauk, my great grandfather, could not have married in Ohio and sired two children as he was only 11 to 15 years old when he went to Illinois. I would greatly appreciate your correcting Chart #25.

John Mauk b. 4 April 1832 Ohio; d. 30 July 1892, Martinsville, Clark Co., Illinois; m. 9 Feb. 1860, Clark County, Illinois Mary Ellen Cowden b. 17 Sept. 1838, Knox County, Ohio; d. 25 Oct. 1931, Martinsville, Clark County, Illinois. They had three children:

1. Cornelia Alice Mauk, b. December 1860, Clark Co. IL; d. 19 Feb. 1928, Martinsville, Clark Co. IL
2. Oliver Mathias Mauk, b. 28 June 1867, Clark Co. IL; d. 16 Sept. 1929, Martinsville, Clark Co. IL
3. Harry Randolph Mauk, b. 25 Sept. 1874, Martinsville, Clark Co. IL; d. 20 Sept. 1966, Marshall, Clark Co. IL

I keep finding conclusive dates to add to my family tree. This is the reason I have not sent you the information, but I will be doing so in the near future. In the meantime, I would appreciate this correction being made. For the record, I do not believe Mathias' father was Gottlieb, but to date, I have not proven this. My cousin William F. Mauk submitted DNA which shows a perfect matchup with James Mauk, descended from Frederick.

I know this lineage from family information, census information, marriage records, Civil War pension records, death certificates, etc. I am not putting any speculation into my family tree.

Mock Family Bible Records Wanted

A suggestion made at this year's conference was to collect and compile zeroxed copies of old Mock Bible records. If anyone has access to early records, please make a copy and send them to Barbara Dittig, editor. If you would like to volunteer to help with this project, please contact Barbara. This could be another very worthwhile project.

A Mauck Family Farmer's Story

Submitted by Marvin K. Mauck

Grandma Remembers

An excerpt from my Aunt Opal Mauck Hawes who will be 96 December 5th

My Beginnings

"If I start the story of my life at the beginning I will have to start with events that happened in Oklahoma. My father, Frederick Wilfred Mauck, a really handsome man of 23 met my mother, Rose Alice Webster, a pretty orphan girl of seventeen. Mama lived with first one relative and then another. Papa lived in a neighboring community. They met at a party.

On November 27, 1906, Mama and Papa were married in Chandler, Oklahoma. They lived in the country a few miles from Chandler in a two room log house, one room with a dirt floor. This cabin was built on the farm my Grandfather Mauck homesteaded at the time of the 'rush' for land given by government to get people to settle there. The cabin was built for 'sharecroppers', those who grew cotton or other crops on shares with the owner of the land.

I was born a year later on December 5, 1907, when Mama was eighteen years old. This was just a few months after Oklahoma became a state. My brother Truman Wilfred was born on December 14, 1908. [Truman Wilfred, Marvin Mauck's father]. During the next sixteen years 9 more children were born. There were: Vernal Orpha, Velma Ione, Glenn Hoyt, Donald Leslie, Freda Evelyn, Russell Wayne, Frederick Everett, Alice Autumn and Calvin Melville.

My grandfather and grandmother were Frederick Wilfred Mauck and Rebecca McCoy Mauck, my father's parents. They lived in Whitewater, a little rural town of 500 people and five or six miles from where we lived.

Grandpa Mauck was born in Indiana January 29, 1844 and served in the Union Army 21st Missouri Regiment Company D. He passed away Sept 13, 1929. He resided in Whitewater, Kansas from 1911 until his passing in 1929.

My grandpa was unique man, a big man. He was long retired from being a farmer when I knew him. His beard was long and white, his hair non-existent on top, but a fringe around the edges. He always wore a big, black hat summer and winter, indoors or out. He sat in a rocking chair with a spittoon by his side. I don't remember him doing much but just sitting, smoking a pipe, and walking the two blocks to the post office each day. I'm sure he took care of the dozen Rhode Island Red hens they kept in the old barn. Those hens were let out a little trap door each evening and hour or so before dark to scratch in the alley for exercise, bugs and grass. There was a small lawn too, of devil grass within their fenced yard. And there was coal to bring in for the pot-bellied heating stove, and ashes to take out.

Grandpa was very proud of being a Civil War soldier (for the North, of course). I think his biggest thrill was getting dressed up in his black suit and talking part in Memorial Day exercises. He was a staunch Republican, and put out the flag at any opportunity. He and Grandma lived on his Civil War Veteran's pension, which I'm sure was less than fifty dollars a month. They lived simply and their needs, and wants, were few. I remember Grandpa saying to us kids when we were finished with a meal, "Are you done eatin'?" When we said yes, he'd say, "Then knock out your teeth."

If you want to know what my Grandma was like, just imagine Aunt Vernal with gray hair put up in a small knot on top of her head, and with three teeth. She was quiet, reserved, a good cook, and liked to do things for people. Most of her dresses were blue or black checked gingham with a lace collar, and she always wore an apron.

Grandma cooked on a big, black wood-burning stove with a warmer shelf on top and a reservoir for keeping several gallons of water warm on the back. In those days many foods were cooked much longer than now, especially green beans and cabbage. I remember often when we'd eat at their house we had "bought" bread and "store" bacon and always cookies on hand.

We ate at a big square table in the kitchen. They had electric lights – one bulb hanging down from the ceiling in each room. Of course there were no appliances then – toasters (toast was made in the oven), irons (irons were heated on top of the kitchen stove), coffee pots (coffee was boiled on the stove and became stronger and blacker as the day went on). No refrigerators (milk and butter kept in the cellar) or washers or dryers. No bathrooms – on Saturday a tub or big pan was filled from the warmed water in the reservoir for bathing. A wooden walkway went from the back steps down to a little building between the barn and chicken house. It had a cold seat with two holes, and a Sears catalog nearby. It also had a 'smell' and flies. Each morning Grandma took her "thunder mug" or "slop jar", which she kept under the bed at night, down to be emptied. What luxuries we have!!

Grandma loved flowers. On the bay window shelf a little spindly geranium or a cactus that bloomed brought her pleasure. She planted tulips, bachelors button, daffodil, and had climbing sweet peas and roses. She planted a garden each spring, and canned cherries and peaches.

Grandma knitted and tatted lace and it was she who taught me to crochet. Grandma liked to go to church but the Church of Christ was several miles out in the country. She seldom got to go except when neighbors Sam and Sally Sanders took her. But everyone knew Grandma was Christian because that's the way she lived. Grandpa and Grandma had no means of transportation, and of course there were no cabs, buses or dial-a-rides.

Water for household use was rain that was caught by troughs on the roof and piped to the cistern. A little hand pump brought the water up to the bucket. The cistern was a big hole dug and faced with brick or cement. It was pumped dry and cleaned once in awhile. What was found in the bottom (both alive and dead) had to be forgotten to enjoy drinking nice soft rain water from the cistern.

I'd like to tell you a little about Whitewater. It was the town where Grandma and Grandpa lived and where I went to high school.

Whitewater streets were not paved or graveled. They were dirt (mud), but there were sidewalks made of bricks. There was a post office, three small churches and three small grocery stores. The Peoples' Bank and Bank of Whitewater took care of financial needs. The Independent was the weekly newspaper that told of the coming and going of the townspeople and neighboring farmers.

Whitewater Creek was on the west side of town. Most of the streets were lined with maple, elm and other trees. There was red brick two-story school building. On the first floor were four classrooms for grades one through eight and a small gym. The high school of about one hundred students was upstairs. Now, sixty-four years later, Whitewater is much the same as when I was child.

Grandpa and Grandma Mauck were my only grandparents. As I mentioned earlier, Mama was an orphan, one of the last of twelve children. Her father was a doctor. Both her parents died when she was quite young and she was raised by various relatives. Most of her family lived in Oklahoma and we seldom saw any of them. "

Obituary for John C. Mock

submitted by Dave Ruckser,

From Johnstown Tribune, 5/11/1928. I believe he is a son of Frederick and Elizabeth (Crist) Mock.

BLAIR PIONEER DIES AT AGE OF 97 YEARS

ALTOONA, May 11

John C. Mock aged 97 years, pioneer settler of Blair County and the oldest resident of Roaring Spring, expired yesterday. Five months ago the nonagenarian sustained a fracture of the leg in a fall. He never recovered from the effects of that injury. Some years ago the deceased drove a stage coach between Altoona and King. In the early 70's he purchased a farm at Bakers Summitt. He was actively engaged as a farmer from that time until he reached the age of 90 when he retired.

John Mock was born in Tuckahoe Valley near where Altoona now stands, the son of Frederick and Elizabeth Mock. The family moved to Scrubgrass, now Osterburg, Bedford County, where he grew to manhood on a farm. The surviving children are: Mrs. Reffner of Roaring Spring; Mrs. Mary Baker of Woodbury; Edward Mock of East Sharpsburg; Mrs. Minnie Bishop of New Enterprise, Bedford County, and John Mock of Oro Hill.

Obituary of Margaret Mock 15 January 1903 The Fulton Democrat (Fulton County PA)

Mrs. Margaret Mock, probably the oldest resident of this place, died at her home on Water Street shortly before 10 o'clock Tuesday night after an illness of ten days from la grippe. Had she lived until March she would have attained the ripe old age of 88 years, having been born March 15, 1815.

Her maiden name was Bell and she was twice married. The first union was with David Skelly and three sons and a daughter were born to them. These children are all dead. Her second marriage was to Daniel Mock, and three children were born to them, as follows: George W., of Metal, Franklin County, Daniel B. of Todd township, and James E. of Morrison's Cove.

She had been a member of the Methodist Church for nearly three score years. The funeral arrangements had not been made at the hour of going to press.

Gottfried and Johanna Flinchback Mock

Submitted by Georgia Kruse

My Mock family is: Godfried (aka Gottfried, Godfrey) Mock, born in Germany in 1816, and his wife, Johannah (aka Hannah) Flinchback, born in 1816. They immigrated from Wuertemberg, Bavaria, Germany in 1853, together with their two sons: Ludwig (aka Lewis) born in 1843 and Chaissof (aka Christian) born in 1846. They settled in Germantown, Montgomery County, Ohio. Three daughters were born there: Maria born in 1854, Elizabeth born in 1857, and Caroline, born in 1859.

I have a copy of Gottfried Mock's passport. I reviewed it again, and here are the facts, as far as I could read them, on the passport:

Gottfried Mock, born April 24, 1816

Johanna Mock, born November 9, 1816

Ludwig Mock, born January 6, 1843

Christof Mock, born May 8, 1846

I've been trying to interpret the information on the passport, but I don't read German and it has been a struggle. I know of several Germans in my town and hope to get their help soon. I do know that the family was in Wurttemberg and went through Stuttgart to Le Havre, France, leaving sometime in late October 1853, but don't know yet where they landed in the United States. Also, I believe that they were from Heilbronn, Neckar County or District, Wurttemberg, Germany, from what I am able to read on the passport.

The information given to me from the 1860 Census is inaccurate on the ages, but it is the right family. Part of the family was on the 1880 Census for Madison Township, Butler County, Ohio which is close to Middletown, Ohio: Godfrey and Joannah Mock, their son, "Christian" and daughter, Caroline. Their son Lewis (Ludwig) and his wife, Magdalena and two daughters, Hannah and Catharine, had a separate listing right under the father's.

My two sons and I met in southern Ohio right after Labor Day and spent four days researching my family and my husband's, and checking twelve cemeteries in the area. Not nearly enough time. We found a Christophor Mock and his wife, Sarah, in the Germantown Cemetery in Germantown, Ohio. (The tombstone said he was born in 1847; and I believe that he was probably Godfrey's son, but have nothing at this time to substantiate that.) There was a large monument with Mock on one side and Long on the other side. I already knew that Marie (Mock) Selby was buried in Woodside Cemetery in Middletown with her husband, Henry Selby (my maternal great grandparents). We checked five different cemeteries looking for the rest of the Mocks, but were unable to find any of them. I haven't been able to find anything else on Elizabeth Mock, Godfrey's other daughter. I would imagine she married while still in Germantown, Ohio.

I would appreciate any further information on this family

Descendant of Jacob and Juliana Mock of Clarion Co., PA

To Ron Moore

I came to this family by way of Oil City, PA in 1938. My father Robert Ross Mock Sr. was a son of Andrew Ross Mock, son of Calvin Culbertson Mock, son of Andrew Mock, all of Phillipston, PA.

I know that Andrew Mock was married to Barbara Templeton of Sugar Creek Twp., Armstrong Co., PA and was a Sgt. in the Union army. Am interested in finding ancestry beyond this point.

I also know that an Uncle, Calvin Vance Mock who passed away last year, was interested in following this line and that he was in contact with a MOCK Group—was hoping that this is the same one and that I might pick up for him.

Thank you,

You have found the right group! I knew you uncle, Calvin Mock and met him when our group had our annual meeting back in Bedford Co, PA about five or six years ago. Barbara Dittig who is editor of the Mock Family Historian will also be glad to hear from you and with your permission I will give her your name and email address.

I just saw Barbara a few days ago at our annual Mock Family History Conference which was just held in Salt Lake City and she mentioned Calvin Mock and said the last she had heard about him was that he had stopped doing family history research due to ill health.

I hope we will be of mutual benefit to each other and invite you to visit our Mock archives which you may find may have some messages from Calvin.
