PHILADELPHIA MAAG FAMILY

Submitted by Steve Lapp

One family that has consistently spelled its name MAAG arrived in Philadelphia in the mid eighteenth century and remained there for well over a hundred years. An accurate account of this family appears in Colonial and Revolutionary Families of Pennsylvania, by Jordan, written in 1911. Quoted verbatim, it reads:

"Henry Maag was born in Zurich, Switzerland, July 1722, and came to Philadelphia with his parents as a child. There were at least twelve male adults bearing the name of Maag, who arrived in Philadelphia between Sept. 11, 1732 and Oct. 20, 1752. He was doubtless a minor son, under sixteen years of age, of one of the earliest of these arrivals. He is known to have had a brother Conrad Maag, born 1731, and a sister Barbara, who married Samuel Sivert on Jan. 17, 1764.

There is a very interesting account of the migration of a large company of prospective emigrants to the Carolinas, from Zurich to Rotterdam, under the leadership of the Rev. Mauritus Goetschy. Among these was Hans Maag, of Hochfelden, with five in his family, and Johannes Maag of Hochfelden, with three in the family. They left Zurich on Oct. 5, 1734 and after many hardships reached Rotterdam, where they were stranded for some time, while Goetschy negotiated with the Holland synods for his own betterment in America. Some of them returned to Switzerland, some crossed over to England, and the residue eventually came to Philadelphia in the ship Mercury, which arrived May 29, 1735. The Maags were among those, who according to a circumstantial account of the expedition and the emigrants, went to England, and they probably came from there to Philadelphia some years later.

It is very probably that Heinrich Maag was a relative, if not one of this family. The first record we have of him is a purchase of 50 acres of land on Aug. 18, 1749, from Thomas Livezly, in Oxford township, Philadelphia Co. near Frankford, and on Oct. 8, 1760, land adjoining Trinity church. His daughter Anna Elizabeth was baptised at the First Reformed church on Oct. 16, 1759; and his brother Conrad's daughter, Barbara, was baptised at the same church on Dec. 7, 1762. at the age of three weeks, the record of the latter baptism stating the Conrad Maag was of Zurich, and that the sponsors, or god-parents, were Heinrich Maag, a brother and Barbara Maag a sister of Conrad. Heinrich Maag, Jacob Maag and a Hans Hendrick Maag arrived in the ship Royal Judith on Sept. 2, 1743 and Jacob Maag was one of the signers of a letter from members of the German Reformed congregation at Market Square, Germantown, to the Holland Synod in 1744. It is possible and even probably that the Heinrich Maag, above mentioned as a passenger on the Royal Judith was the Henry Maag with whom this sketch is concerned. His brother Conrad, born 1731, would have been then under 16, and would not have been mentioned in the passenger list. Neither does this list give the name of women passengers, which would account for the absence of the name of his sister and mother.

Henry, or according to the German form of the name, Heinrich Maag purchased 55 acres of land in Passyunk township, Philadelphia, on May 6, 1761, it being part of an original grant by Gov. Richard Nicholls of New York, Jan. 1, 1667 to Dunkin Williams. Here he lived as a farmer until his death on Jan. 10, 1787. His first wife Verena (Frances) died July 11, 1783, and he married (second) on Jan. 20, 1784 to Elizabeth Brown, a widow, who survived him. By his first wife he had five children, Jacob, John, Solomon, Ann, and Verena (or Frances). His will directed that his plantation and tract of land in Passyunk and his house and lot at Third and Gaskell streets, where his son Jacob lived, be sold within one year. His estate amounted to 2,444 Lbs.; to his widow he devised his riding chair, horse, and harness and 400 Lbs were the parents of Catherine Maag, (b. 1774, d. 1855) wife of Samuel Jarden and grandmother of Cynthia Ann (Jarden) Magee."

His son Jacob Maag married April 16, 1773 to Maria Peltz, daughter of John and Catherine Peltz, and they were the parents of Catherine Maag, (b.1774, d.1855) wife of Samuel Jarden and grandmother of Cynthia Ann (Jarden) Magee."

From the Philadelphia Reformed Church records, along with information found in Eighteenth Century Emigrants Volume II by Annette Burgert we learn:

Conrad Maag, from Zurich, married Anna Elizabeth Dauenhauer from Winzeln, Germany. Anna was born Aug 13, 1727. She arrived in Philadelphia with her family aboard the ship Muscliffe Galley in 1744. Conrad died Nov.16, 1767 at age 36. Anna Elizabeth remarried to Daniel Burghardt. She died and was buried Jan.18, 1773. Conrad and Elizabeth were married 16 years and had 10 children including the following six:

Margaret Maag	born @Jan. 1757, died Jan.14 1763.
Jacob "Mog"	bpt. Oct.2, 1757 at Market Square Presbyterian Church
George Conrad	born @Apr 1759, died Sept.21, 1759.
Sybylla	bpt. July 4, 1761, Phil. Reformed Church.
Barbara	bpt. Dec.7, 1762 at three weeks old.
	She married Samuel Sevit Jan. 17, 1764.
Gertrude	bpt. Feb.25, 1765 at 14 days old.

Jacob Maag (son of Henry), according to Philadelphia Reformed Church records, married Maria Peltz on April 6, 1773. Two children appear in records:

Catherine Maag	born Feb.11, 1774, baptized Feb.27, 1774
Jacob Maag	born Mar. 5, 1775, baptized Apr. 2, 1775.

The following burials appear in the Philadelphia Reformed Church records:

Anna Maag	died Aug.19, 1759, age 61 years, wife of Jacob Maag.
Jacob Maag	died May 18, 1767, age 61 years, 3 months
Anna Maag	died Sep.20, 1768, age 75 years.
Catherine	died Dec.15, 1770, age60 years.
Wife of Henry Maag	died Sep. 18, 1774, age 54 years.
Wife of Henry Maag	died July 13, 1783, age 55 years.
John Maag	died Aug. 1, 1785, age 33 years, 7 months, 11 days.

Marriage record: Anna Maag to Jacob Feit on June 20, 1770.

According to Lists of Swiss Emigrants to American Colonies In the 18th Century, Hansz Jacob Maag, Alexander's son, along with his wife and 3 children, and Hansz Maag with his wife and 3 children, all journeyed from Bachenbulach in Parish Bulach, Switzerland, to Pennsylvania in 1738.

Junghans Maag with his wife Anna Herzog and 1 daughter journeyed from Hochfelden in Parish Bulach to Penn. in 1738.

Jacob Maag, his wife and 2 children, and Andreas Maag with his wife and 2 children journeyed from Bachenbulach to Penn. in 1743.

Jacob Maag, a resin scraper, with his wife, 3 sons and 2 daughters, journeyed from Eschenmosen in the Parish Bulach to Penn. in 1743.

Ship records for the "Loyal Judith", qualified Sep.2, 1743 in Philadelphia, include Jacob Maag age 42, followed by Henrich Maag age 15. Another Hans Henrich Maag, age 20, is listed separately.

Researchers are invited to draw their own conclusions regarding the relationship of these Swiss immigrants named MAAG.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

From Stanley R. Pappas for wife, Mary Lou, a descendant of Johannes Mack. d 1784 Berks Co., PA. In August my wife and I spent two days in Reading. I spent 3 hours at the Historical Society of Berks Co. and found the following:

1. A typed MS (said to be one of five copies) compiled by Horace D. Perdue (then of 4627 Penn Ave., Kansas City, MO) 7 Sep 1937 said to be MOCK family documents. This included the detailed Will of Johannes MACK and that of his wife.

2a. Johannes MACK (in his will) is identified as being a stocking weaver (I suppose he gave up baking because of his age?) Each of his five sons was left 1 1/2 shillings (in gold or silver); his widow got the remainder of his estate - including a lot (presumable with building(s) 60 feet wide and 230 feet long, it being numbered 427 on Reading "General Plan" with Earl Street being its west boundary.

2b. Reading itself is on the east bank of the Schuylkill. Pre-RW Reading had streets running N-S (roughly parallel to the river) named (in order, west to east) King/Queen/Duke/Earl/Lord. After the RW, those royal/noble names were dropped and the streets were numbered 1st, 2d, 3d, etc....I made no attempt to locate the MACK lot.

3a. From your Mock Family Historian (Vol.1-No.4-pg36) you cited (from Trinity Lutheran Burial Records, Reading) that John MACK "on bail" was buried in Potters Field 14Sep1784, had shot Michael Ritmeyer in the leg (Ritmeyer died of the wound 25Jul1784. Either you or Steve Lapp edited this item severely; you failed to explain why a 72 year old man shot a punk kid. (Read: could have been a know-it-all youth who had threatened previously.)

3b. Burial records are those of Trinity Evangelical (sic), Lutheran Church state: 25June1784 Michael REITMEYER (sic), 20 years, 6 months, apprenticed to Peter GRAF, going to a cherry tree which he was ordered not to do or even allowed to do, by night, he was shot in the back part of the leg. The shot was fired by John MACK, snr.

14Sep1784 John MACK,, on the Pottersfield, having been imprisoned, but being under bail he died in his own home. His trial on account of the shooting of Michael Reitmeyer had not taken place.

Note: Does anyone have information as to whether John had an estate or was he broke????

Reading apparently remains approximately 25-30% Lutheran, 25-30% German Baptist or Reformed. There's only one Moravian church in the area and the Quakers have only one meeting house.

Perhaps this item is related: Moravians (Bretheren or Dunkers or German Baptists) refused to take an oath or to bear arms. The sect founder was Alexander MACK, a native of Schriesheim, near Heidelberg. He organized it in 1708, emigrated to America in 1719 with seven others to near Germantown. I do not know if this Alexander was kin to our Johannes.

Stanley R. Pappas.

Editor's note: Thank you, Stanley for sharing this new and very interesting information on John MACK. Neither Steve nor I had seen this accounting of the shooting. I appreciated the brochure from the Historical Society of Berks County.

Here in the Albion-Springport area (Calhoun and Jackson Counties) there is a Mock Family, descended from Judson Mock, originally born in Berlin Center, Ohio. We are enclosing some family obituaries we have here in our local history archives which may be of interest to you, plus the Albion Riverside Cemetery listing of the Mock family members who are buried here. We would be happy to correspond with any descendants. Sincerely, Frank Passic, Curator of Local History

Dear Barbara, I hope you will find the enclosures of interest. I was pleased to find the Pennsylvania Court Records in Conestoga, Lancaster County listing a Roody Mauks in 1730. A later record shows a John Mauks in 1739. The earliest date we have for Rudy Mauk/1Mauck was the birth/baptismal record of his daughter Elizabeth in Opequon, VA in 1735/6 (Record Bk of Rev. Stoeber). The Conestoga record could be significant if this is the same Rudy Mauk. After being fined for assault and battery, could he have moved on down into Virginia? The "Great Indian Warpath" runs right down from Lancaster, Pa into the Valley of Virginia. It was one of the early emigrant trails and a direct route to the Shenandoah. FROM OUR NEW MEMBERS note from Jean Wolph Hicks, Louisville, KY, niece of William Wolph, -Tell Steve Lapp I have my uncle's materials but it may be some time before I can do any sorting.

Dear Steve, Thanks for your letter and copy of MOCK FAMILY HISTORIAN. I am familiar with Wolph's book Descendants of Peter Mauck; however I have no other knowledge indicating that Henry and Andrew Mauk of Sullivan Co., TN were descendants of Peter Mauck. For that matter I have not been able to document that Henry and Andrew actually were brothers. Marilyn Mauk, Bristol, TN.

Dear Barbara, Wayne Fell of Kansas, IL gave me a copy of your newsletter on the MOCK FAMILY. My brother, Jim and I are also working on a family tree of the Mock Family. Enclosed is a check for me and my brother. At this time, we can go back to Jacob Mock (born Aug 1, 1777 and died Aug 5, 1823). Fred Delap, Jacksonville, FL (bro., James, Minneapolis, MN

QUERIES

My ggg grandfather, Jeremiah Priest, was b. in Shenandoah Co., VA in 1755 according to his RW pension papers. The family settled in Culpepper Co., VA., where he married Emelia Gardner in 1783. This couple had 14 children, most of whom were born in VA. Around 1793-94, they moved to Bourbon Co., KY (per tax records) where he stayed until at least 1800. At that point he moved northward across the Ohio River toward Cincinnati, where he claimed bounty lands in 1805 and settled on land between the Big and Little Miami Rivers, which later became Clark Co. Their dau., Bathsheba Priest, b. 17Mar1789 VA, d.1866 Miami Co., OH married 19Dec1811 in Clark Co. to FREDERICK MOCK. Elijah Priest, b.8Feb1792 VA, d. after 1860, m. 30Apr1812 in Clark Co HANNAH MOCK, who per census was b. in North Caroline 1793, dau. of FREDERICK MOCK. Elijah and Hannah moved after 1830 to Delaware Co., IN and in 1860 were living in Centre Twp. I have very little information regarding the MOCK family that were evidently living in the Miami-Clark Co. area of Ohio at the time my Priest family were there. I did find some Mock families living in Bourbon Co.KY at the same time that Jeremiah Priest was there. Among them were Rudolph, Andrew and Jacob. Could there be a connection between these families? You have also mentioned Mocks living in Fairfield Co.,OH. Jeremiah Priest had a brother William who settled in Amanda Twp., Fairfield Co. ca1813 and died there in 1821. Who are the parents of FREDERICK MOCK, b.1787 PA d. 1832 Clark Co.,OH m. Basheba Priest. Their known children: Eson, b. Clark Co.KY, m. Caatherine Oatewart; Samuel b. 1820 m. Mary Botkin; Hannah who married Elijah Priest. Frederick and Hannah were married to the brother & sister of my 2gg grandfather.

ELIZABETH MOCK, b. Ohio, d. Defiance Co., OH. m. Gideon Smith Parker who d. 1870 Carroll Co. MO. Their oldest son, John Isaac b. 1848 Licking Co., OH. The family moved to Carroll Co., IN. by 1858. Who is the ISAAC MOCK who died 1875/1876 and left some money to Francisco Parker, son of Gideon and Elizabeth MOCK Parker? Francisco's brother Levi was his guardian in May 1876, living in MO. This would indicate that both Gideon and Elizabeth had died. Would appreciate any info on this family.

ANDREW MOCK SR. was b. ca1720. Place of birth is unknown at this time. According to a deed from Edgefield Co., SC dated 10May1805, Andrew Mock Sr. & others sold land to William Arrington. The "others" mentioned in the deed were, Andrew Mock Jr., George Mock, Benjamin Mock, Rachel Mock, Lodowick Boykin and wife Ann, Phillip Howell and Sary his wife, all of Screven Co. GA. This land once belonged to David Shockley who deeded it to his Step-grandson DAVID MOCK. Could this David Mock be the father or perhaps brother of ANDREW MOCK? I also have a Platt map for Andrew Mock dated 1796 Screven Co.,GA David Mock was mentioned. Anyone having info on ANDREW MOCK SR. --

Kerkhoff, says, "One of the best known farms in Page Valley is Shawnee Farm, owned by Mr.&Mrs. H.T.N. Graves, and located on 654 acres about 2 miles northwest of Luray. The mansion house, a large square brick structure now painted an ivory buff color, overlooks the fertile fields of the lower Massanutten bottom lands. It was erected during the war between the states when the property was owned by one Isaac Huffman, a farmer and large land owner in that region. Mr. Huffman's holdings extended from the present "Shawnee Farm" to what is now known as "Hamburg". The farm is now composed of 159 acres The Huffman's came to this valley from Rockingham Co.,VA. At the death of Mr. Huffman, the farm was partitioned into a number of smaller plats and given to his children. One of the daughters, Ellen, married Thomas Heiston, who purchased the interests of a number of the single heirs. They received the mansion house and together with the purchased intersts made the property into quite a large farm again..."

CONRAD MAUCK, SON OF TOBIAS

Additional children
Submitted by Steve Lapp

Central Pennsylvania Commemorative Biographical Record includes a page on John H. Mauck, a nurse and veterinary surgeon known throughout Union Co. PA. He was born in New Berlin, PA. July 13, 1837. His paternal grandparents were Conrad and Catherine Mauck, originally from Montgomery Co., PA. This appears to be the same Conrad DMAuck included in the Tobias Mauch article in the May 1992 issue of Mock Family Historian, page 34.

Conrad Mauck and Catharine moved to Union County (now Snyder Co.), Pennsylvania in the early 1800's. The Central Penn. Record lists 9 children of Conrad, in addition to the two mentioned in the M.F.H. article (John Henry and Aaron).

CONRAD MAUCK married to CATHERINE ZOLLER - children include:

JOHN MAUCK resided and died in New Berlin, PA.

JACOB MAUCK resided and died in New Berlin, PA.

DAVID MAUCK born 1799 in Montgomery Co., PA, died 1867, married Nancy Shryer near New Berlin, PA. Children:

SALLY married Charles L. Nicholson.

JAMES of Lockhaven, PA.

MARY J. married Isaac King of New Berlin, PA.

CATHERINE died age 22.

JOHN H. born July 13, 1837 - fought in Civil War.

ANNA married Jacob Cassel of Philadelphia.

ELIZABETH died age 22.

One son and two daughters died as infants.

VIRGINIA MAUKS APPEAR IN MARYLAND RECORDS

submitted by Steve Lapp

The Monocacy Lutheran and Evangelical Lutheran Congregations at Frederick, in Frederick County, Maryland recorded their baptisms as published in Maryland German Church Records: Volume 3, translated and edited by Frederick S. Weiser in 1987. Among these baptismal records appear three items of particular interest to the MOCK FAMILY HISTORIAN:

Catharina MAG was a sponsor of Regina Wedel, born March 24, 1772 and baptized June 21, 1772. Parents were Johannes and Maria Magdalena.

Fridrich and Magdalena MACK were sponsors of Maria Catharina Krebs, born Jan. 25, 1771 and baptized June 28, 1772. Parents were Jacob and Sarah Krebs.

Cont'd. Virginia Mauks in Maryland Records----

Johannes and Anna Ottilia MACK were sponsors of two children on June 19, 1774 - Johannes Hauser born Sept. 22, 1773 to parents Henrich and Catharina Hauser, and Magdalena Linck born March 10, 1774 to Johannes and Anna Margreth Linck.

According to the Zumwalt Family Study Papeer, compiled and printed by Helynn M. Carrier on Sept. 27, 1989, Anna Otillia Zumwald married John Mauck in about 1760. This is the same John Mauck, son of Peter, baptized by kRev. Stoever on April 29, 1740, at Opecquon, in Frederick Co., VA (born Nov. 25, 1739). John Mauck's wife was referred to as Ann Delilah and "Tilly" in later records and that is how she is named in William Richard Wolph's book The Descendants of Peter Mauck 1708-1980. John Mauck, Jr., son of the above John and Ottilia, married Elizabeth Heiser as his second wife in 1787. Elizabeth is the daughter of Henry and Catharine Heiser - most probably the same as Henrich and Catharina Hauser in the above Maryland baptism record. On March 27, 1780, Henry "Hiser" purchased land on drains of North Fork Shenandoah River adjoining the property of John Mauck.

The Fridrich and Magdalena Mack in the above Maryland baptism record could possibly be the same as Frederick and Modlena Mauk in the March 1, 1779 Will of Frederick, recorded in Frederick Co., VA. (see entire Will on page 33, Mock Family Historian, May 1992 issue).

The identity of Catharina Mag in the above Maryland baptism record is a mystery, but it must be noted that Rudolph Maag Jr. was married to Catharine Ulrich during the 1772 time period (see article in Mock Family Historian, pages 21 and 22, January 1992 issue).

Other instances wherein residences of the Shenandoah Valley in Virginia serve as sponsors at a baptism in Frederick, Maryland appear in the Evangelical Lutheran Church records.

MEETING OF MOCK/MAUCK FAMILY RESEARCHERS IN CALIFORNIA

Submitted by Ron Moore

A group of Mock reseacher met at the Ramada Inn, Fresno, CA, Oct. 10 and 11. The number attending was much larger than most had anticipated, and the time was profitable spent. Some of the goals included the desire to meet those sharing correspondence for a number of years and exchanging research data, to discuss plans for the future of the Mock Family Historian, and try to coordinate research in order to prevent duplication of efforts.

A hotel suite was used for the meeting and it was a busy place with about 12 people, a copy machine, two computers, and many books and records that were brought by each researcher. We believe this may have been the most concentrated assemblage of Mock/Mauk research that has ever been brought together in one location.

Members of MFH, all from California, who attended the enclave included Barbara Dittig, Danville; Barbara Irwin, Walnut Creek; Helene Hawkins, Gold Hill; Joyce and Frank McAninch, Huntington Beach; Eugene and Peggy Mock, Canyon Country; James P. Mock, Torrance; Jim and Dorothy Mock, Davis; Wanda Cunningham, LaGuna Hills; Kathryn and Dick Purtich, Los Altos; Steve and Barbara Lapp, San Francisco and Ron and Anne Moore, Clovis.

James P. Mock, Torrance, CA, has concentrated his searching on all variant spellings of the surname in Virginia, both in the 1800's and also in the pre-1800 era. He has a large collection of names, dates, places and events, in his compuer database and has already generated a sizable book with an index. He is still searching for the parents of his Joseph Mock/Mauch who lived in Warren Co., VA ca1822. If you have family group sheets or any bits of information on any Maucks who lived in Virginia, no matter what the line, send it to him so that it can be included in this large Virginal resource. His address is, James P. Mock, P.O. Box 393, Torrance, CA 90504

Con'd., Mock Mtg.

Steve Lapp is focusing his research on Pennsylvania in the 1700's, and including all lines of the various spelled Mock surnames. We all know this to be a difficult area to research because of so many of the various lines living there at different times and with a few common German given names that seem to keep repeating. This is an important state since most of our ancestors seemed to have first come to Pennsylvania before spreading out to other states. Steve believe that by the careful analysis of these early records, that interconnections may be found between various known Mock lines. The key may be in searching many of the old church documents. If you have any pre-1800 Mock records that relate to the state of Pennsylvania, you may wish to correspond with Steve Lapp at 98 Whitney, San Francisco, CA 94131.

Ron Moore has begun a project building a large Mock database which may be amenable to various types of searching. The program will utilize the historical computer software program, Sesame. The feasibility of such a database is being investigated. It has been tested by downloading events in the US IGI, using the Gedcom format, at the Family History center, and transferring this information to a computer disk. This study included all variant spellings of Mock, Mauk, Mack, and Maag. Out of this group of names, a collection of over 24,000 events relating to the various surnames has been generated without having to type anything. Multiple Gedcom databases were created which were then converted to Sesame documents which are capable of doing some searches which are not possible in the IGI. It is planned to use the IGI as a skeleton, and build around it by adding many other events such as births, marriages, deaths, time, place, persons involved, and to preserve relationships such as parents, children, siblings, or spouse and document the source as accurately as possible. The initial project will focus on all events prior to 1800, and will later be enlarged to include more recent events.

Several Mock researchers who have computers and modems are now meeting on Prodigy. Those who are know include Helene Hawkins, Jake Mauck, James P. Mock and Ron Moore. Jake Mauck is the host, so anyone with a computer, a modem and who is a subscriber to Prodigy, join this group and you will be able to keep abreast of research that is being done, and you may be able to help others looking for their Mock/Mauck roots. Those who do not have the computer, modem, or Prodigy service may want to consider this as an option to help with your research. When you enter the Prodigy genealogy bulletin board, come to the section, Mauck, 1700s in VA, and you should be pleasantly surprised.

The Mock gathering proved to be very helpful, and one person was overheard to say that they felt they came away with more information than when they make a trip to Salt Lake City.

Many expressed a desire to have a similar gathering next year. It is hoped that by planning ahead, perhaps some of you who live in the east may also be able to attend. The time or place has not yet been finalized, but the suggestion of either Reno or Las Vegas, NV has been made. This way, those in the family who may not be interested in genealogy may be kept occupied, and where food and lodging can be obtained at a reasonable price. We believe it should also be on the route of major airlines. If you have any thoughts on this matter, relate your interests to Barbara Dittig.

Those present gave Barbara Dittig their voice of confidence to continue publication of the Mauck Family Historian. She, Barbara Irwin and Steve Lapp have devoted a considerable amount of time to this effort, and all their work is voluntary. This project could not be done without your help in supplying Barbara with documents to print. In the first year of publication, which included two free bonus issues or a total of six numbers, the paper will barely break even, so be sure and send in your $10.00 for the coming year, so it will continue to be successful. We now have over 125 subscribers which is believed to be phenomenal.

Editors Note: I would also like to thank all of those attending the MFH gathering. It was a pleasure meeting and working with you. Hope to you you again next year!

THE NEXT ISSUE OF MOCK FAMILY HISTORIAN WILL BE COMING OUT IN JAN/FEB, 1993. PLEASE SEND IN YOUR QUERIES AND ITEMS YOU WOULD LIKE TO SEE IN FUTURE ISSUES.

DUES FOR 1993 -----$10.00

This will be the last issue for 1992. Those who joined prior to Jan., 1992 received 2 extra issues published in 1991 at no extra cost. I would like to thank all of you who have who have participated in making the MOCK FAMILY HISTORIAN a very successful publication. I look forward to the coming year, but will need input from all of you. We are attempting to cover all of our immigrants and their family lines. If you have documented material on your early ancestors send it to me. If you have already sent an article or query that has not been published, please let me know. With the amount of material received, I could have overlooked it.

New editions to the MFH library ---Thanks to the efforts of Jim Mock of Torrance, CA and Jake Mauck of Topeka KS, we have a copy of "The Descendants of Peter Mauck" by William R. Wolph and a complete index. A lot of work was involved in putting this together. Thank you Jim & Jake.

Hopefully by early next year, I too will be connected to Prodigy. I have just purchased a new computer (Macintosh LC) and putting this issue together has been a real challenge as you may have noticed. I still haven't mastered the page no.s. I hope to have improved by the next issue!

HAPPY HOLIDAYS TO YOU ALL!
