Challenge

Out of the mist of Oblivion
Up from the grave of Time
Out of History and Legend
The Carmacks slowly climb

Connelius and Johnand William
And their name sakes galone
Struggle from the sod of Ireland
And America's new found shore

On each silent lip a query
Son have you shinked your chone
On have you molded a better world
Then we who went before

Faithfully you have kept our memony
Proven by the sons you bone
But have you so lived that others
Knowing, will love you more

Search you hoants my hinsmen
Can you boldly face their quest
And answer with our shame or sorrow
Truly we have done our best.
