

We were married in August, 1950 and joined the faculty of Miltonvale Wesleyan College in Miltonvale, Kansas that fall. Forrest taught classes in psychology and religion; Jean taught business subjects. We lived in a large house on the edge of the campus owned by the college, called the Hotchkiss House. Not long after we moved there we acquired a kitten which we named Mister. He was a part of our family until, in his old age with failing health and missing teeth, our young daughter made life more miserable for him by frequently pulling his tail. This snapshot was taken in our front yard in Miltonvale. A neighbor's home is in the background.
