MEMORIES by George Smith

When I think of Grandpa Bevly Smith, my memories are of our family's annual vacation trips to eastern Colorado. Grandpa's farm was my favorite place to stay.

The farm was primitive. Too primitive for our civilized mom's comfort. Outhouse, no running water, water pumped by windmill, wood stove, propane refrigerator, root cellar for food storage and electricity limited by wind charger and batteries. Chickens were caught, beheaded and plucked for dinner. Eggs were collected from the chicken house each morning. Beef came from a jar fetched from the root cellar. Vegetables came from Grandma's large garden or jars from the root cellar. Hot cereal was hand cleaned whole wheat from the field. Fields of wheat and corn were farmed by draft horse team. Cows were milked each day by hand. Cream was separated from the milk with a hand cranked separator. Butter was churned by hand. Water was fetched to the house by pail.

Grandpa was very permissive, allowing us to do all of the activities in their daily lives and teaching us how. We hunted jack rabbits and rattlesnakes with our .22 rifle. We drove the pickup to the grain bin to help Uncle Oscar and cousins Bob and Richard during wheat harvest at about 8-10 years of age. They had a tractor pulled combine. We explored the dry creek bed that ran through the farm, played in the row of broken down equipment and cars, drove Oscar's tractors to weed his fields with the cousins. We, Robert Thomas "Tom" and I, were often allowed to stay on the farm while our parents and younger brothers stayed at grandmother's in Hugo.

Grandpa had a hand crank gas pump and tank in the driveway. We were able to pump gas for the customers. He also sold candy and tobacco from a shelf on the living room wall.

When we found the bows for the wagon in the equipment row, put them on the wagon and covered it with blankets and sheets, Grandpa hitched up the team and took us for a covered wagon ride.

We were allowed and helped to ride old Dick, the white draft horse. Cousin Richard and Tom fell from his broad bare back in grandpa's pasture and Tom broke his elbow. He spent several weeks and his seventh birthday in a Denver hospital in traction.

Grandpa didn't use the outhouse during the summer. He squatted behind the cow barn or along a fence line. He also had a pot under the bed for night emergencies.

MEMORIES by George Smith

Grandma Minnie (Bohm) Smith was a gardener in dry primitive conditions on their farm at Shaw, CO. She grew a large vegetable and flower garden and used the produce fresh and canned. Water was often hauled by bucket to the plants. She siphoned water from the drinking barrel to the areas of the garden she could reach with 50 ft. of 1/2 inch hose.

Grandma loved watermelon. She thought we might not be well if we didn't want at least two large pieces of melon.

Grandma was a worrier. She worried about everything, all the time.

Grandma was a cook of the midwestern farm type. She prepared and served a large quantity of excellent and simple foods and pushed us to eat more.

Grandma was tender, concerned and caring. She was a person that we wanted to be with as children because she was attentive and listened.

Grandma was the Postmistress of Shaw, CO. A room in her house was the Post Office. Grandma and grandpa were the town. The post office served the surrounding farms for many miles in any direction.

MEMORIES by George Smith

My Dad grew up on Grandpa's farm, did farm and construction labor until he joined the CCCs during the depression where he learned to cut hair for extra income.

...Lost his teeth in an auto accident in a new 39 chevy. Operated a Skelly service station in Denver in 1940-1942, during the war, repaired tires and batteries instead of replace.

...Worked for Dupont Chemical in 1942 and transferred to the Hanford Atomic works in Oct 1942. Becky and the two oldest boys joined him in Richland, WA in the spring on 1943. He was a chemical process operator in plutonium production until retirement. He purchased the initially assigned project house in 1956 or 57 and lived there until death.

He was a 34th degree mason.

Dad was a frugal doer. He cut our hair. He always had home improvement projects from lawn and landscaping in 1943 to an automatic sprinkler system in 1984. He involved and used us boys in every activity like a midwestern farmer. We all learned how to do anything and use tools. In about 1958-59 he salvaged an army barracks using the lumber, drywall, fixtures, nails and even asphalt shingles to build a 22' x 30' garage for $600 and most of that was tools. He encouraged us to do, to have (lawn work, delivery newspapers, remove trees) for money or charity. What we learned from him has enabled us to succeed in every endeavor. He encouraged and supported us and our friends in sports, church and scouting. Mom was the Den mother in cub scouts. Dad provided transportation and coaching as his shift work schedule and 11-hr. days allowed. We had some pretty good battles politically and intellectually, but it was always OK to have different opinions as long as we had knowledge and opinions.

In the 60s, his garden developed as a hobby following in the footsteps of his mother.

MEMORIES by George Smith

Mom was raised on her father's farm in Karvel Co., CO. Her father was the teacher of a one room school house. The farm was dry with insufficient water. She went to Ellsworth, KS to live with relatives for high school where she graduated as salutatorian. She worked as a contract secretary (fast, perfect typing) for the Land Office at Hugo, CO until marriage.

She was a stay at home mom, kept house and raised 5 boys nurturing and supporting our activities. She was the disciplinarian because she was there most of the time. With boys she sometimes needed to threaten correction when Dad got home. It always worked because that meant a belt on the backside.

She was very smart, well organized and in demand as an officer of the church women's society, scouting supporters, and the neighborhood women's social club. She discovered and diagnosed the beginnings of Alzheimers disease in the early 1980s and compensated well through the use of lists and organization devises for several years. Watching her slow deterioration has been extremely difficult for us as our memories and expectations are of a very intelligent and controlled lady.
