EDINBURGH:
PRINTED FOR THE SOCIETY BY JAMES SKINNER & COMPANY.
1908.
PREFACE.

The various Records, whose contents are indexed in the list now printed, may be divided into three divisions—Genealogies, Birthbriefs and Funeral Escutcheons. The first consists of the Official Register of all Genealogies and Birthbriefs in Scotland, which commences on 3rd December 1797. Volume I. ends on 15th January 1796 and Volume III. begins 16th August 1827 and is continued to date. Volume II. is not now in existence, if indeed it ever existed at all. It is not mentioned in an inventory of the Lyon Office Records in 1819, but several pedigrees, which were intended to be recorded in it, are still preserved in draft in what is called the “Arboretum” or “collection of trees.” The names of those as well as others, not now in the Lyon Office though the fees for recording them are entered in the cash book, have been added to the list. These volumes are referred to as G. I., II. and III. The Birthbriefs and Funeral Escutcheons give the names and in many instances the arms of the parents, grandparents, great-grandparents and great-great-grandparents, of the person in whose favour they were granted or of the deceased, whose hatchment was, by warrant of the Lord Lyon, painted and placed over the door of his mansion or burial place. These records, which are intermixed, are contained in fourteen volumes and are referred to as follows, the references being the numbers of the manuscript in the Lyon Office Catalogue:—

8. Large folio containing 43 Birthbriefs and Funeral Escutcheons at beginning and 4 at end, 1697-1754.
9. Large folio containing 237 Funeral Escutcheons collected by Roderick Chalmers, Ross Herald (1724-1746), and another commencing 2nd August 1724 and ending 1766 contain the seize quartiers of the deceased, but no pedigree.
10. Small folio, formerly in four books, containing 326 Birthbriefs and Funeral Escutcheons.
11. Small folio containing 296 Birthbriefs and Funeral Escutcheons.
12. Small folio containing 82 Funeral Escutcheons, 1720-1732, copied from No. 9 and not indexed separately.
13. Small folio containing 130 Funeral Escutcheons, 1697-1718.
14. Small folio containing (first) 90 Birthbriefs, mostly foreign; and (second) 40 Birthbriefs, a number of pen and ink sketches of armorial bearings, and ending with the Funeral Escutcheon of David, Earl of Leven and Melville 1860.
Preface.

15. Medium folio entitled "Manuscript Genealogies," containing 213 Birthbriefs of the peers of Scotland and others, ending 1756.
32. A volume, which belonged to Joseph Stacey, Ross Herald (1663-1686), containing 184 Birthbriefs.
34. A thin volume containing 39 notices of the orders and ceremonies of funerals during the seventeenth century.
112. An unbound collection of Birthbriefs, 58 in number, 1684.
L. Quarto volume containing pen and ink sketches by Henry Fraser, Ross Herald 1687-1724, for Funeral Escutcheons, with 13 Birthbriefs at the end. Only these latter are indexed here.
P. The Lyon's Register of Processions, Letters of Precedency, Testificates and Forfaulitures 1679, with 23 Funeral Escutcheons at the end.

The information given in these records in the seventeenth and eighteenth centuries must be accepted with caution by the genealogist. The ancestral tables in many cases have been written down by the Herald Painters from persons whose knowledge was incomplete or inaccurate. The records contain many blanks in the names and dates, which have been supplied from other sources. This information is given in square brackets.

PREFACE.

The village of Restalrig is situated in the parish of South Leith and on the eastern outskirts of the city of Edinburgh. It is a place of great antiquity, and in pre-Reformation times its collegiate church was the parish church of Leith. At the Reformation the church, which was dedicated to St. Triduana, was ordered by the General Assembly to be razed and utterly cast down as a monument of idolatry, and the parishioners ordained to repair to St. Mary's Church at Leith, a sentence which was only too faithfully carried out. The edifice remained a ruin till the year 1836, when the present chapel of ease was constructed out of its remains. Though ceasing to be a place of worship after 1560, the churchyard continued to be a place of sepulchre, and after the disestablishment of Episcopacy in 1689 was used by the members of that body as a place of burial when denied the right to conduct service in other places. In 1726, with the sanction of John, Lord Balmerino, and James, Lord Coupar, his son, the proprietors of the Barony, the Friendly Society of Restalrig was constituted, and to its care the ruined church and churchyard were made over. The first members of this Society were Messrs. Harry Allan, writer; Charles Allan, surgeon; Mrs. Wood, heiress of Warriston and portioner of Restalrig; the heirs of James Elphinston; James Telfer, heritor; James Robertson, heritor; Thomas Wood, farmer; John Fulton, farmer; William Oliphant, farmer, Lochend; James Abercrombie, farmer; James Coustoun, farmer, Alexander Dickson, farmer, and Patrick Petrie, schoolmaster. To these Robert Maxwell, in Jock's Lodge, and James Robertson, in Restalrig, were subsequently added. The Society provided a set of mortcloths, and from time to time fixed a scale of charges for their use at funerals. The amount of these fees has been duly recorded since 1728, and from this source the index now printed, which includes all entries to 31st December 1854, when the compulsory registration of deaths came into force, has been made. The information contained in the Register has been supplemented from the monumental inscriptions, and also, in some cases, from the obituary notices in the Scots Magazine.

After the building of the barracks at Piershill in 1793 the churchyard became the place of interment of many soldiers of the cavalry regiments which have been stationed there.

For a fuller account of this interesting place the reader is referred to the Collegiate Churches of Midlothian, published by the Bannatyne Club, and a paper in the Proceedings of the Scottish Ecclesiological Society for 1907-8, by the Rev. William Burnett, the present minister, to whose courtesy the Society are indebted for the index now issued.

SCOTTISH RECORD SOCIETY.

THE

COMMISSARIOT OF ARGYLL.

Register of Inventories.

1693-1702.

EDITED BY
FRANCIS J. GRANT, W.S.,
Rothesay Herald.

EDINBURGH:
PRINTED FOR THE SOCIETY BY JAMES SKINNER & COMPANY.
1909.
PREFACE.

The Register of Inventories, which is contained in ten volumes, dating from 10 July 1693 to 27 November 1702, supplies a blank in the Register of Testaments, an index to which has already been printed by the Society. The testaments of a few of the persons whose inventories are given in this record are to be found in that Register. These are marked with T. in this Index.

The Commissary appears to have made a very complete perambulation through his district during the period included in this Index, visiting each parish and making up inventories of the various defuncts. No estate seems to have been too small to escape furnishing its quota to the Commissary's fees.

In an Appendix will be found the lists of persons summoned to account for the estates of defuncts in certain parishes.

The various volumes of Inventories comprise the following dates:—10 July 1693 to 28 July 1693; 26 July 1693 to 7 November 1698; 25 April 1694 to 3 November 1698; 5 September 1694 to 21 February 1698; 6 May 1697 to February 1698; 1 February 1699 to 1 December 1701; 9 May 1699 to 3 January 1701; 30 October 1699; 8 December 1701 to 27 December 1701; 27 November 1702; 8 May 1807 to 10 June 1815.
The Commissariot of Argyll.

SCOTTISH RECORD SOCIETY.

THE

Commissariat of Edinburgh.

CONSISTORIAL PROCESSES AND DECREETS, 1658-1800.

EDITED BY
FRANCIS J. GRANT, W.S.,
ROTHESAY HERALD AND LYON CLEK.

EDINBURGH:
PRINTED FOR THE SOCIETY BY JAMES SKINNER & COMPANY.
1909.
P R E F A C E.

Among the various civil jurisdictions exercised by the Ecclesiastical Courts prior to the Reformation was that of adjudicating in Consistorial causes or actions relating to marriage, legitimacy and divorce. The only records of that period now preserved in the General Register House are the Registers of two Officialates of St. Andrews for the years 1512-1552 and 1541-1554, excerpts from which were printed by the Abbotsford Club in 1845.

In 1560 the jurisdiction of these Courts was abolished and on the institution of the Commissary Court in 1563-4 these cases were made over to the Commissaries of Edinburgh, who continued judges therein until 1830, when these matters were transferred to the Court of Session.

The Record of these proceedings before 1658 will be found mixed up with those of the ordinary Court, but after that date the processes have been kept in separate bundles, and from 1684 the Extracted Decrees are contained in a different Register. These Processes and Decrees form the subject of this Index.

The Processes include Actions for Divorce, both on the ground of desertion or adultery, Separation and Aliment, Declarator of Marriage or Legitimacy, Declarator of Freedom or Putting to Silence, Adherence, Reduction of Edicts of Executry, Nullity of Marriage, Reduction and Improbation and Scandal or Damages for Slander. When the decree has been extracted a reference is given to the volume and page where the same will be found. When there is only a decree and no process there is stated to be "No warrants."
The Commissarion of Edinburgh.
