

SILVIS.—William M. Silvis died near Charleston, Armstrong Co., Pa., Nov. 7, 1882, aged 20 y., 4 mo., 3 d. Disease typhoid fever. Bro. S. was converted 5 years ago under the pastoral labors of J. W. Domer, united with the Ev. Association, and remained faithful to the end. I visited him several times during his sickness, and always found him trusting in Jesus, and frequently he shouted aloud "glory to God." He leaves parents, brothers and sisters to mourn his early departure. Funeral by F. J. Strayer and the writer.
A. C. MILLER.

SILVIS.—Simon T. Silvis died in Fairmount City, Clarion Co., Pa., Nov. 29, 1881, aged 29 y., 4 m. and 27 d. Like many others he deferred the work of repentance, till a very late hour. On his dying bed he sought and found the Lord. His end was peace. He leaves a wife and child with other near relatives to mourn for him. Funeral services by J. GARNER.

SILVIS.—Emma Catherine, daughter of Joseph and Sarah Silvis, died of brain fever, March 5, 1891, aged 17 y. 2 m. and 10 d. Sister Emma joined the Ev. church a little over a year ago, and lived a devoted life. She left a glorious evidence of her salvation. Just before she passed away, she said: "Oh blessed Saviour, take me home." She died with a smile upon her lips. Funeral by J. E. ROBB.
