

The Descendants of Frederick Shawhan (1760-1840)

by Ronald T. Shawhan

The Frederick Shawhan lineage traces itself back to DARBY SHAWHAN, a Scotch-Irish immigrant who arrived in Kent County, Maryland in about 1698 — he may have come by way of Barbados. We know that he was an illiterate but industrious farmer, growing tobacco, on land known as “Darby’s Desire, which was/is located a short distance northwest of the city of Kennedyville, in present-day Kent County; he and his wife, Sarah Meeks, lie buried on these grounds. Darby and Sarah were married in the still existing St. Paul’s Church, on November 20, 1707 — that union produced eight children, including David (1726-1766) whom evidence indicates was the father of Frederick.

We know little of DAVID SHAWHAN, Frederick’s father. We know that he was under age when his mother made her will in 1735 and that he died by October 20, 1766. Records also indicate that he was in the militia during the French and Indian War. Kent County documents show that at March Court in 1761, David Shawn, a single man, was charged with committing fornication with Jane Greenwood on 7 Dec. 1759 and begot a bastard child — this links to Frederick’s birth in August 1760. On 20 Oct. 1766, his estate was appraised and valued at 127.4.4 pounds. Dennis Schawn and Darby Shawhawn signed as next of kin. The family bible was listed in his assets.

A detailed summary of the descendants of FREDERICK SHAWHAN follows.

First Generation

1. Frederick SHAWHAN,¹ son of David SHAWHAN and Jane GREENWOOD, was born in Kent Co., MD August 12, 1760. Frederick died August 08, 1840 in Tiffin, Seneca Co., OH, at 79 years of age. His body was interred 1840 in Greenlawn Cem, Tiffin, OH. He married twice. He married Elizabeth ALLEN in Kent Co., MD, February 27, 1784. Elizabeth was born about 1764. Elizabeth died February 2, 1796 in Washington Coroy., MD, at 31 years of age. He married Eleanor WELLS in Washington Co., MD, July 12, 1799.² Eleanor was born about 1779. Eleanor was the daughter of Rezin WELLS. Eleanor died March 2, 1815 in Fairfield Co., OH, at 35 years of age.

The parentage of Frederick was at issue for decades. In 1997 the following record was discovered: The book “Colonial Families of the Eastern Shore of Maryland”, by Robert Barnes and F. Edward Wright, states that “Greenwood, Jane, was charged at March Court, 1761 along with David Shawn, planter, a single man, that on 7 Dec. 1759, they committed fornication and begot a bastard child”. Both were fined 30 shillings. This would place the birth of the child in about August of 1760, the birth date of Frederick Shawhan. Jane was later charged in 1763 with fornicating on June 10, 1762 and having another bastard child, named Rosanna; the father’s name was not mentioned. Frederick was a veteran of the Revolutionary war, enlisting in Chestertown, Kent Co., and serving under Captain Jesse Cosden, Col. Wm. Richardson’s 5th Maryland Regiment. According to his pension request, he was often barefooted, as he fought in such campaigns as; - Somerset Court House, NJ, in January 1777, while Washington’s Army was making its way to winter quarters in Morristown, NJ, after his victories at Trenton and Princeton. - The Staten Island retreat, in August 1777, under Gen. John Sullivan. - Whitemarsh, PA, December 1777, just prior to the bitter Valley Forge winter. - Siege and capture of Stony Point, NJ, June - July 1779, under General Wayne. - Paulus Hook, NJ, August 1779, under Henry “Light Horse Harry” Lee. After his June 8, 1780 discharge, Frederick married Elizabeth Allen in 1784, had six children before her death in 1796. In 1799 he married Eleanor Wells, by whom he had seven children; in the meantime he migrated west, taking advantage of land grants for Rev. War veterans, where he became one of the early pioneers in Seneca County, Ohio. In his 1833 pension application, he states that “there was a record in my stepfather’s bible of my age which I have not seen for 35 years.” He also told of his migration west, after being in Kent Co., 1760-1793; to Washington Co., MD, (1793-1797), to Back Creek, Berkeley Co., VA, (1797-1812), to New Lancaster, Fairfield Co., OH (1812-1817), to Wayne Co., OH, (1817-1830), and to Richland Co., OH, (1830-1832), before finally settling in the Wood/Seneca Co. Vicinity. His pension request was approved, for $80.00 a year! There are several records of his land negotiations, including a 1792 buy of a Kent Co. tract called “Smothers” from Bartholmew Foreman, by “Frederick Shawhan, tailor .”, an April 21, 1800 purchase of 107 acres on the west side of Back Creek, Berkeley Co., VA from Robert Snodgrass, (just back of present city of Hedgesville), and his sale of the same Back Creek land to Conrad Storry on April 13, 1812. U.S. Census records list him as being in Kent Co., MD in 1790, in Berkeley Co., VA in 1810, in Wayne Co., OH in 1820, and living with his son Lorenzo, in 1840 in Seneca Co., OH. He is buried in Greenlawn Cemetery, Tiffin, OH, together with many other Shawhans.

John moved his family from Richland Co., OH, westward to Montgomery Twp, Wood Co., OH, (near present Fostoria, OH) in about 1832, being the first settlers in that area — they made the trip by ox team, with one horse as a leader. John had to cut thru miles of woods before reaching their future home site. On the first night of their arrival, they slept in the wagon. They then cut down a large maple tree, four feet in diameter, hollowed it out, covered it with puncheons and blankets, and used it for their living quarters until they could build a log cabin. The cabin had a fireplace at each end, made of clay mud and sticks, held together by grass. One of their first challenges was the digging of a well; after much hard labor they finally reached some water at 25 feet deep. Indians frequently came to visit and eat, for which they paid at the rate of a shilling per meal — they particularly liked Rachel's fried corn fritters. John became very active in the growing community, holding the offices of County Commissioner, Probate Judge, and Justice of the Peace; he also served as land assessor of Wood County.

17. Josiah Shawhan KELLY, SR. (Rachel SHAWHAN 7)¹² was born in OH September 21, 1824. Josiah died July 28, 1867 in Ellsworth, KS, at 42 years of age. He married Fannie WIGGIN in Geneva, KS, November 1863. Fannie was born in Ontario, Canada November 15, 1842. Fannie was the daughter of James WIGGIN. Fannie died November 15, 1904 in Washington, D.C., at 62 years of age. Though born in Canada, Fanny had been brought to New York in 1856 when her father moved his family to join an abolitionist colony in that state. They then traveled to eastern Kansas, settling at Geneva. The colonists survived a scorching drought in 1860 and hordes of grasshoppers in 1861, only to be caught up in the border warfare early in the Civil War. After her marriage to Josiah Kelly and her subsequent ordeal when their wagon train was attacked by Indians, when she was captured by the Indians, Fanny achieved some notoriety by her book, titled "Narrative of My Captivity among the Sioux Indians", pub. 1872, in Toronto, Canada. In her narrative she vividly describes the attack, her capture, her suffering at the hands of the Indians, her life as a squaw to an Ogala Chief, and her final successful escape, many months later, on December 9, 1864, after several failed attempts. Her 1868 petitions to Congress regarding her ordeal resulted in an 1870 award to her of $5, 000 for her efforts, while a captive, in warning Fort Sully of an impending Indian attack; she received an additional $10,000 for full payment of property taken and destroyed by the Sioux when the Kelly wagons were attacked. Fanny educated her little son in private schools and eventually settled in Washington, D.C., where she accumulated money and invested in real estate. In spite of her trials among the Indians, she seemed to have acquired an affection for them, and entertained many of their dignitaries when they visited Washington. Upon her death she was buried in Glenwood Cemetery, in the heart of the District of Columbia.

Born in eastern Ohio, Josiah had crossed the plains to California in 1856 where he worked the mines for about three years without much success. By 1860 the Census showed him back in Geneva, KS, and, in 1863, he married Fanny Wiggin. Josiah's health was not too good, and, shortly after their marriage, they decided to leave Kansas to go West, to an area around Montana or Idaho. On May 17, 1864 they set out with high spirits, slowly being joined by others, including the Larimers; Sarah Larimer was a photographer who hoped to practice her profession in Idaho, so the Larimer wagons were loaded with daguerreotype equipment, chemicals, and picture cases. The Kellys carried with them trade goods, including 100-pound sacks of flour, over 100 pounds of coffee, dried fruit, canned fruit, dry goods, clothing, and whiskey; in addition they drove a herd of fifty milk cows and 25 calves. They reached the Platte River, and, after much effort, were able to finally cross. Along the way, they had been advised that any Indians they met would be peaceful — this was not to be. On July 12, 1864, near Horse Shoe Falls, they spotted over 100 Indians, painted and equipped for war. They tried to appease the Indians, with food, cattle, and other supplies, including Josiah's horse. The Indians demanded that they be given supper; while this was being prepared, the Indians suddenly attacked — just about all the men were immediately killed, but Josiah escaped by hiding in a thicket of brush that the Indians feared because of rattlesnakes. The Indians took Fannie, their adopted daughter, Mary, and other women captive. Fannie tried to have Mary escape by jumping off the horse and hiding, but the Indians discovered the child, and tomahawked and scalped her. In the meantime, Josiah traveled many miles before finding help. By the time he was able to return to the site of the massacre, together with soldiers from Ft. Laramie, the Indians were well away — they buried the dead and did attempt to pursue the Indians, in an effort to rescue Fannie and the other captives who had been taken to Powder River Village. They were unsuccessful, however, and the Indians kept Fannie captive and constantly on the move. It wasn't until several months later, that Fannie, after being threatened with death on numerous occasions, was finally able to escape while the Indians were visiting Fort Sully. Josiah and Fannie were finally able to have a happy reunion. They decided to return to Kansas, locating in Ellsworth, where they built a hotel, serving the workers building the Union Pacific Railroad. There Josiah contracted cholera one night and died the next morning. Fannie was forced to flee the area and went to St. George where their son, Josiah, was born one week later.

Harrison appeared prior to his election to President. At the age of 19 Rezin clerked in the general merchant store of his uncle, R.W. Shawhan. In February 1849 he and three other men were sent by his uncle to California to dig gold — he gave them $2,800, under the condition that they would share any profits with him. After traversing across Panama they finally reached San Francisco in June 1849, and started mining in Eldorado Co., CA, about four miles from Sutter's Mill. They were moderately successful, and, in October 1850, they left California and returned via Panama to Tiffin, arriving in December. They divided their profits with Rezin Shawhan, each having a snug sum of money left over. Rezin's first enterprise was the purchase of 159 acres of land in Perry Twp. After making improvements on the farm he sold it and obtained a larger farm. He then sold that land, for $3000, and, in 1854, opened a general merchandise store in West Millgrove, buying his goods in New York City. He subsequently sold the store and retired to the life of a gentleman farmer, owning over 700 acres of valuable land. A prominent citizen, he served as a Tax Assessor, Justice of the Peace, and County Commissioner.

While a student she met her future husband, Tom Shawhan, whom she affectionately called "Shaw". They were married on Easter Sunday, April 16, 1922. As a young woman Pearl was an excellent student, in addition to shining in sports and debate. She continued to be an avid reader throughout her life, staying abreast of current events. She also set an example for her children and grandchildren in her kindness to the less fortunate, always striving to leave the world a better place. She worked hard and played with the same ferocity; anyone who ever competed against her at bridge or scrabble quickly noticed her sportsmanlike competitiveness. Pearl and Tom were partners in the best sense of the word. As much as she loved and was loyal to her husband, she was constant in her love of her siblings and children; numerous times she left Tom to care for a sister, a daughter, or a grandchild — their strengths, separately and together, became a model for their daughters. She was truly devoted to her church, family, and friends.

Tom was born in the Armourdale section of Kansas City, attended school through the 8th grade, and then went to work with his father who was a refrigeration engineer. Thomas served in the US Navy during the WWI era, attending boot camp in Seattle. He was sent to Engineering School to learn power plant operation and then was assigned to ship duty. His trips included cruises to South America, to Europe for the return of American troops, and on a destroyer, the USS Kalk, patrolling the North Atlantic, near Newfoundland, while the British pilots, Alcott and Brown, in a Vickers aircraft, were trying to make the first flight across the Atlantic — Newfoundland was a stop along the way. After the War, Tom made his way to South Dakota where he was working in refrigeration for John Morrell & Co. when he met and courted Pearl Riter. Tom and Pearl lived in Ireton, IA from 1925-1929, then in Akron, IA from 1929-1936, and then in Sioux Falls, IA before moving to Lake Mills, IA where Tom owned and operated an International Harvester dealership. After selling that business in 1950 he sold insurance for the next 15 years. He thoroughly enjoyed sports and was an avid fan; he swam, played tennis and golf, bowled, fished, hunted, and ice-skated. He continued to golf even after the amputation of the lower portion of his right leg in 1980. He was a 32nd degree Mason, and was active in the American Legion and the Lions Club.

There she has enjoyed her children and grandchildren, and occasional trips to the beautiful scenic areas in Oregon with her Senior Center friends.

Norman was a character, to say the least. He authored a 30+ page booklet, titled “Life Was Never Boring”, recapping his life and family. As a youngster he was involved in various acts of mischief— e.g. Halloween pranks, skipping school to see his first airplane in 1917, throwing a dead skunk into the school fan, (school was out for five days), etc. His Dad was a railroad man but Norman didn’t want anything to do with that career, so he tried a myriad of jobs including working in vaudeville as a tap dancer and comic. When he and Helen got married it was in the middle of the Depression and they had no money, so they took off from Oregon to California to become “fruit tramps” — migrant farm workers. Eventually he worked in the entertainment field, dispatched trains, opened a restaurant, grew strawberries, served as an auctioneer, sold Stanley tools, and finally was a mail room manager at the U. of Oregon.
